

Resonant Cavity Company Information

Resonant Cavity, the company behind the Voloco mobile app and Voloco Producer plugin, is based in Minneapolis, Minnesota (US). Resonant Cavity is empowering vocalists and creators to sound their best with innovative and accessible voice processing software for mobile and desktop. Founded and managed by musicians, the company is proudly 100% owned by its employees and founders.

Key Achievements:

- Viral Sensation: With an impressive 68 million+ lifetime mobile installs, Voloco has become a viral audio app sensation, setting a new standard for accessible and professional-grade audio production on mobile devices.
- User Engagement: The app boasts impressive daily activity, with over 500,000 beat plays, 3,000 new user posts, and a staggering 70,000+ recordings made per day.
- Media Recognition: Voloco has received critical acclaim from The Verge, The New York Times, and Bedroom Producer, among others. This recognition solidifies Voloco's position as a game-changer in modern voice processing, particularly in rap and electronic music production.
- Professional-Quality Audio: Resonant Cavity takes pride in delivering studio-quality audio processing, even when recording on a smartphone or tablet. The recently released Voloco Producer desktop plug-in (AU/VST3/standalone) takes Voloco even further, simplifying producers' vocal mix process as well as delivering a library of best-in-industry vocal presets.
- Founder's Vision: Inspired by a need for high-quality vocal recording accessible to all, Voloco reflects the passion and expertise of a team dedicated to bringing professional audio production to the fingertips of users worldwide. Resonant Cavity's CEO/founder is also the app and plugin audio designer and remains hands-on in product development.

"Voloco is defining the sound of modern voice processing in rap & electronic music production," says Patrick Flanagan, CEO of Resonant Cavity. "Our commitment to providing truly outstanding audio quality for all creators and musicians is at the core of what we do. The fact that Voloco is not only a viral sensation but also recognized by industry leaders is a testament to the talent and dedication of our team."

As Resonant Cavity continues to innovate and redefine the landscape of audio production, Voloco users can expect even more exciting developments from this employee and founder-owned company.